DECENTRALISATION IN AFRICA: A CRITICAL REVIEW OF UGANDA'S EXPERIENCE. H Ojambo 1
Introduction. Uganda's experience with decentralisation is as highly acclaimed as it is criticised. In the first year of our global strategy we have focused world attention on the fundamental injustices girls face. And we are starting to see real change. Trade Facilitation and the Global Economy. In a globalised world, where goods cross borders many times as intermediate and as final products, trade facilitation is essential to lowering overall trade costs and increasing economic welfare, in particular for developing and emerging economies.
