

Download Lab Microbiology Technician

Medical Lab Technology is a profession that trains people to assist physicians and doctors on diagnosis and treatment of a disease. A person who practices Medical Lab Technology is known as Medical Lab Technician and they are the ones who usually conduct tests on blood and other body fluids to confirm the state of a disease. If you have problems using this web site, please call the NC State Laboratory of Public Health's Customer Service unit at (919) 733-3937 and provide the representative with your contact information and a brief description of the problem.

2015-2016 7/15/2015 MEDICAL CLINICAL LABORATORY
TECHNICIAN - ATD H170600 1515 hours Notes: The 7 State Courses within OCP C are taught in a different order than listed on the