"The Professor's Daughter" is kind of like watching a charming, quaint little screwball comedy. A very romantic one, I might add -- the romance between Lillian and Imhotep IV is one of those sweet, comfortable ones where you just want them to live happily ever after. "The Professor's Daughter" is a crime graphic novel. Lillian, the daughter of an Egyptologist, falls in love with the mummy Imhotep IV. Imhotep, although wrapped in bandages, can walk and talk like a normal person. When Lillian accidentally poisons two men, Imhotep falsely turns himself to save Lillian. Lillian and Imhotep reunite in jail, but other forces, such as Imhotep III, threaten to keep them apart.
