

Download Taking Sides Clashing Views In Human Sexuality

This textbook was really very in depth and insightful with so much information that I never thought I would learn from when taking the Online Human Sexuality course this summer. A new wristband may give autistic people and our caregivers warning that a meltdown is coming up to three minutes before they happen. A version of the wristband is already FDA approved and on the market to help detect seizures. Compiled by Andrea L. Mitchell, SALIS: Substance Abuse Librarians and Information Specialists.
